LWC

is moving to PAPERLESS INVOICING FEBRUARY 2019

As part of our commitment to reducing the environmental impact of our operation, LWC Drinks will be transferring all customers across to paperless invoices from February 2019. With your help, the move to e-invoices will drastically reduce the quantity of paper waste being produced by our organisation; if every LWC customer received email invoices rather than paper invoices for just one year, over 300,000 sheets of paper would be saved.

As well as having a positive environmental impact, the move to email invoicing represents further benefits to your business:

FAST

No more waiting days to receive your invoice! Receive your documents seconds after we send them.

SECURE

Reduces the risk that your account documents can get lost in the post or compromised.

CONVENIENT

Access your invoices, statements and credit notes from anywhere, anytime via a secure online account with LWC.

Next steps

1. Your local depot will be in touch to confirm the best email address for your account documents to be sent to. If you have not been contacted before February 1st, please contact your local depot.
2. You will receive a letter in the post confirming the exact date on which paperless invoicing will begin.
3. From the specified date, your invoices will automatically be sent to your nominated email address rather than through the post.
4. If at any point you would like to switch back to paper invoices, just contact your local depot by phone or email to update your preferences.

Fantastic Fizz for Valentine's

'Dry January' is officially over, and many couples will be heading out looking to treat themselves to a romantic meal and a bottle of bubbly to complement. Here are just a few suggestions to offer on your Valentine's menu, covering a range of styles and price points – all guaranteed to look the part on the dinner table.

Spumante Rose Serenello 24 X 200ML

One of our firm favourites, Serenello Rosé, now in a single serve 20cl bottle. This Prosecco really delivers on taste with bright, fresh red-fruit flavours.

Champagne De Castelnau Rose NV 75CL

Founded in 1916, Champagne Castelnau is located in the heart of the Champagne region where it produces around half a million bottles per year. Their Rosé makes an excellent aperitif, and also goes well with red- or white-fruit-based desserts.

Bollinger Rose NV 75CL

In the production of this rosé Champagne, 5–6% red wine is added to the blend, providing structure, real depth of fruit flavour and a slight tannic finish.

Laurent Perrier Rose Magnum 1.5LTR

The iconic Laurent-Perrier Rosé bottle, but double the size! Perfect for the very thirsty or those wanting to make a big impression, this really is a centrepiece for the table. Try serving in a tulip-shaped glass instead of the traditional champagne flute to enjoy the full benefit of its fruity, heady aromas.

Or for something a little different, why not add a speciality sparkling red wine to your list?

Pauletts 'Trillians' Sparkling Red 75CL

A blend of 86% Shiraz and 14% Cabernet Sauvignon, the wine is deep ruby in colour with a lively mousse and spicy, dark fruit aromas. Can be enjoyed chilled either as a standalone drink or as an accompaniment to a meal – turkey, veal, barbecued meats and plum pudding would all make excellent matches.

Pardál

ORIGIN

In 2006/2007, Budvar Brewery in the Czech Republic made the decision to launch a new beer with the help of their local consumers.

The Czechs, with the highest consumption of beer per capita (close to 150 litres in 2017), are well known for their taste for lager. 99% of all beers consumed in the Czech Republic are lagers and the Czechs, by nature, are very serious about the quality of the beer they drink. This has led to perfection in this category, but of course, new preferences develop as time moves on.

To satisfy emergent tastes, Budvar formed a panel of three hundred beer consumers. Over many weeks (and many beers!), they thrashed out a plan for their new product: "a beer for the people, by the people".

This gathering of enthusiasts defined not only the taste, colour and character of the new beer, but also the values and shape of the new brand. 'Pardál' in Czech indeed translates to 'panther', but the term is also used to describe a unique individual: someone who doesn't succumb to the mainstream; who has strong, self-formed opinions; who knows what they want and how to get it. The beer was conceived to meet the expectations of such people. The brand reflects their values. Pardál is unique, with a sessionable ABV of 3.8%, but more flavour than most 4-5% beers.

But how did Budvar achieve this fulfilling taste experience while maintaining an ABV below 4%, using only traditional brewing and hopping methods? The secret is relatively low fermentation and optimal original gravity, together with exactly the right combination of malt and hops. Maturation takes longer than most other beers. The result is an easy-drinking, casual beer with a full mouth taste.

Pardál's production involves one day of brewing, ten days of main fermentation and thirty days of maturation in horizontal tanks at a low temperature. Budvar's lager cellars, with a constant temperature of 2°C, provide the necessary time and space to the yeast for the fine-tuning of its taste to perfection.

For comparison, most modern European lagers skip cellar conditioning and are produced in pressurised, cylinder-conical tanks for approximately ten days in total.

Pardál's atypical brewing and maturation processes together with its distinctive list of ingredients, are key to the beer's enhanced flavour profile.

INGREDIENTS & BREWING

Pardál is brewed using the soft water from Budvar's 10,000-year-old artesian well, some 300 metres below the brewery.

For Pardál, three types of malt are double decocted to meet the colour and taste profiles defined by Budvar's panel of three hundred consumers. Pale malt is the main ingredient, making up about 90%, including Bojos and Malz varieties; this is followed by Bavarian Munich and Caramel malts, at about 7% and 3%, respectively. The panel specified a requirement for high bitterness, albeit combined with a full body, which first covers the hops, then develops the bitter taste in a balanced and distinctive manner. For this reason, doses of Agnus hops are added at two stages in the brewing.

As aforementioned, the time given to the beer in the lagering cellars is crucial to the development of the beer's flavour, balance and overall drinkability. This is where the yeast is at work.

Pardál is intended for discerning beer experts who won't hear a word against the flavour of present Czech beer, will appreciate a beer fine-tuned in every way, and are likely to enjoy it with a group of friends at the pub or in the garden, treating the beer like an essential member of the party.

INTRODUCING: RUBICA TONIC WATER

LWC is proud to present a new tonic water range, specifically created to enhance the enjoyment of a great quality G&T.

Developed in the UK, both variations of Rubica tonic water are made in small batches at an independent bottling company and are now available from all LWC depots as an exclusive on-trade-only tonic water.

In flavour, Rubica tonic is light on quinine bitterness and balanced by citrus, meaning it pairs exceptionally well with the huge range of unusual botanical and fruit-led gins that can be found in today's premium gin category, including our own Empress, Agnes Arber and Agnes Arber Rhubarb gins.

Rubica Tonic Water and Low Calorie Tonic Water have been blind-taste tested over a six-month period, and we can confidently say that Rubica can take on the market-leading premium tonic waters in terms of taste and diversity.

Why "Rubica"?

When choosing a name for the range, we wanted to hark all the way back to the earliest origins of the drink. Native to the tropical Andean forests of Western South America, the Cinchona tree comes from a family by the name "Rubiaceae" with around 23 different species.

So, "Rubica" is simply a variation on the botanical family name of the quinine tree!
